PROCESS

OF THE GAME

Ultimate Poker is a variation of traditional poker that offers a new approach to the game.

In a game, you do not play against the other participants (up to 7 at the table) but against the bank (the casino).

The game begins with betting. You must place your chips on the "Ante" boxes, for an initial bet, and the "Blind" box, for a blind bet of an equal amount.

Be sure to place your bets carefully from the start, as they cannot be removed or changed. You can also place an optional bet in the "Bonus" box.

The Dealer then deals 2 cards to each player and to himself as well as 5 community cards on the table, all face down.

If the dealer uses an automatic card shuffler, the order of dealing changes. First the 5 community cards, then the 2 cards of each player, and finally the 2 cards of the Bank.

Players can then "check" (stay in the game without betting) or bet on the "Play" box an amount equal to 3 or 4 times their "Bet (Ante)" stake.

The Dealer then turns over 3 community cards and this time, if you did not do so in the previous round, you can only bet

2 times the amount of your “Bet (Ante)”.

Then the Dealer turns over the last 2 cards. If you still have not bet on the “Play” box, your bet cannot exceed 1 time your “Ante” amount.

If you decide to abandon the current move, you lose the stakes you have committed.

The dealer then turns over his cards and announces his best hand. The remaining players then compare their hand with the dealer's.

The best hand wins the game.

RESULTS & GAINS

If the Dealer has the best combination, he collects all the bets in the “Blind”, “Ante” and “Play” boxes (special case for the Bonus, see below).

In the event of a tie, the bets remain with the players without gain or loss (special case for the Bonus, see below).

If a player has a better combination than the Dealer, he recovers his entire initial bet and his stakes will be paid according to the pay table:
